

Baby Sings The Blues

(lyrics & music by Steven Walters)

My momma threw me out
The day I was born
I cried just like a baby
Had to leave my happy home
You know I spent nine months
In a place so nice and serene
Now I'm blind, cold and naked
I think I got a right to scream
It's my first day out
I've already had enough

*No one said life would be easy
But no one said it'd be this tough*

At six months old
They threw me in the pen
I got out on good behavior but they
Put me right back again
I swear now people
I swear now I've been framed
Not to mention I got this rash on my bottom
And lord it's inflamed
They pinch me and squeeze me
Feed me all kinds of nasty stuff

*No one said life would be easy
But no one said it'd be this tough*

You know what I'd say
If I could talk
I'm getting out of this joint
Soon as I learn to walk

Listen here now people
Hear me when I say
I'm gonna find that doctor
Who smacked me that first day
I'm gonna grab that dude
Hold him upside by his heels
And smack him on his bottom and say
Now you see how that feels
I hit the bottle
Then went on to harder stuff

*No one said life would be easy
But no one said it'd be this tough*
